HEART SONGS SERIES

By GORDON V. THOMPSON

A SONG OF PEACE.

My soul is troubled like the raging deep,
When wild winds toss the sea.
My eyelids will not close in sleep—
O Lord, I call on Thee.

I cannot quell the wayward thoughts
That crowd my weary brain;
I long again for childhood dreams,
But, oh! the wish is vain.

CHORUS.

O Thou, who once on Galilee
Didst hold the wind and calm the sea,
Do Thou, O Lord, speak peace to me.
Peace, peace, be still!

The world lies hushed in peaceful sleep;
The song birds rest in Thee,
Who, careful of the sparrow's fall,
Must surely care for me.

While all about Thee watched in fear,
That night on Galilee,
Thy soul was calm, Thy rest was sweet;
O Lord, hear Thou my plea!

Here are the words of what is possibly the author's most beautiful song.

Haven't you had some sleepless nights when the long hours wearily dragged out till morning?

Send for a copy of this song and hear its sweet, soothing, characteristic melody.
It is bound to please you.

This is one of Mr. Thompson's "Heart Songs." The entire set of five can be bought for $1.00.
